BEYOND SINN FEIN HOPES

bly early in January. The assembly would draft a national constitution for Ireland, which would be laid before a conference of all nations.

Complete separation and a republic wholly independent of Great Britain are boldly claimed by some Sinn Feiners. Their policy is reported to be all or nothing, and it is believed their success is due to the fact that a moderate settlement of the Irish question has not yet been reached. The difficulties in the way of a home-rule agreement still persist. Various plans have been suggested to bring about home rule, but none has substantial backing from any organized party in Ireland.

(By Jack Velock.) Victory in Election—Policy Nothing. Nothing.

Dublin. Dec. 19.—(Cor. A. P.).—The Sinn Fein victory over the nationalists in the recent parliamentary elections exceeded the highest hopes of the Sinn Feiners. It is believed when the final count is made Dec. 28 the Sinn Feiners will have won a majority of the Irish seats. In fact, before the election they had gained twenty-five seats, because the nationalists did not oppose them.

The Sinn Feiners elected will not take their seats. They will forfeit the 150 pounds sterling which they had to post as an election fee and which is returnable only when a member takea the oath and his seat.

Their immediate purpose, according to one of their most prominent leaders, is to convoke an Irish nationalist assem-A Good Word for Chamberlain's Tablets.
